

Hi Everyone,

Next Thursday is Back to School Night at BHS. We begin at 6:30 in the Auditorium, but know that we welcome parents to join at any point in the evening. We understand that parents are coming from work and carpools, and that many will be late and/or following schedules for multiple children. Please don't worry about joining a class in the middle or slipping out of one to catch another. Be aware that parking at BHS is very tight. If you can walk or take public transportation, you definitely should.

At BTSN I'll share course curriculum for Algebra 2 Honor and Precalc Honor, the Standards for Mathematical Practice and some themes that we are emphasizing as a community in classrooms and schoolwide. I'll show you how to check your child's grades on my site, and how to see what we do every day in class. This is tough to do in ten minutes, but I will post my powerpoint online, so there no need to copy things down or take pictures of slides. I'll also share any additional information that comes up that seems relevant to most, so please don't worry if you can't make it.

One other note about BTSN: Inevitably as I am shaking hands I get asked the question, "So how is Johnny doing?" This makes for an awkward moment since the evening is rushed and crowded. It's hard for me to produce quarterly averages on the spot and share them confidentially in this setting. Please reach out to me any time at debbie_winkler@psbma.org with questions or concerns.

Thank you, and I look forward to meeting many of you next week.

Debbie Winkler
